Lalley Light and Power SAVES

Say Lalley Owners

Lalley Light is a complete unit—engine and generator—with 16-cell storage battery. It supplies ample electricity for lights, water pump, fanning mill, etc.

From every quarter comes the same story.

"Lalley Light does save time, save money, save labor," say owners everywhere.

William Kroeze, Arlington, Wash., reports that with 25 lights, a washing machine and an iron, Lalley expenses are very small compared with the comfort the plant affords.

According to J. B. Mitchell, of Farragut, Ia., the Lalley is the best labor-saving device the farmer can buy. He says he would give up his automobile and his tractor before he would part with his Lalley.

C. E. Hornerstall, Springfield, Mo., considers that Lalley saves the work of one man on the farm and a woman in the house.

Outside of the cost of running Lalley, W. H. Becker, Petersburg, Ill., figures that it saves him $7 in cash per week, and 18 hours of labor.

O. E. Hammond, Kirkland, Wash., finds that Lalley Light saves 8 hours per week in his feed houses alone, and wouldn't be without it.

We know you are interested in anything that means an added saving on your farm.

We can demonstrate many Lalley Savings either here at our store or at your home.
